EDDY MARCANO´S SOUND

"Eddy Marcano is a created violinist, he plays superb, Marcano also knows how to perform in different styles, especially in our traditional Venezuelan music, Eddy is an excellent human been and a great professor"

- maestro José Antonio Abreu

"I know Eddy Marcano since long time ago, he is my friend, Eddy is a multitasked musician and I am sure he has served as inspiration to many Venezuelan artists, Thank you Eddy Marcano for your beautiful music"

- William Molina

"I love and enjoy to be part of any Eddy Marcano's music project, there is a great connection between us when we play together, He is one of the best violin player I know and for all kind of music"

- Pacho Flores

"Eddy has many good things, it is incredible to be part of any orchestra that he conduct or play, but the best of him is that his violin sounds like Venezuela together with all its towns and regions, that is a quality that no many Venezuelans musicians has"

- Gustavo Carucí

"In the variations for violin solo, in the master piece "El Pajarillo", Marcano displays one of the best performance ever seen, Congratulations"

- maestro José Francisco del Castillo

BIO

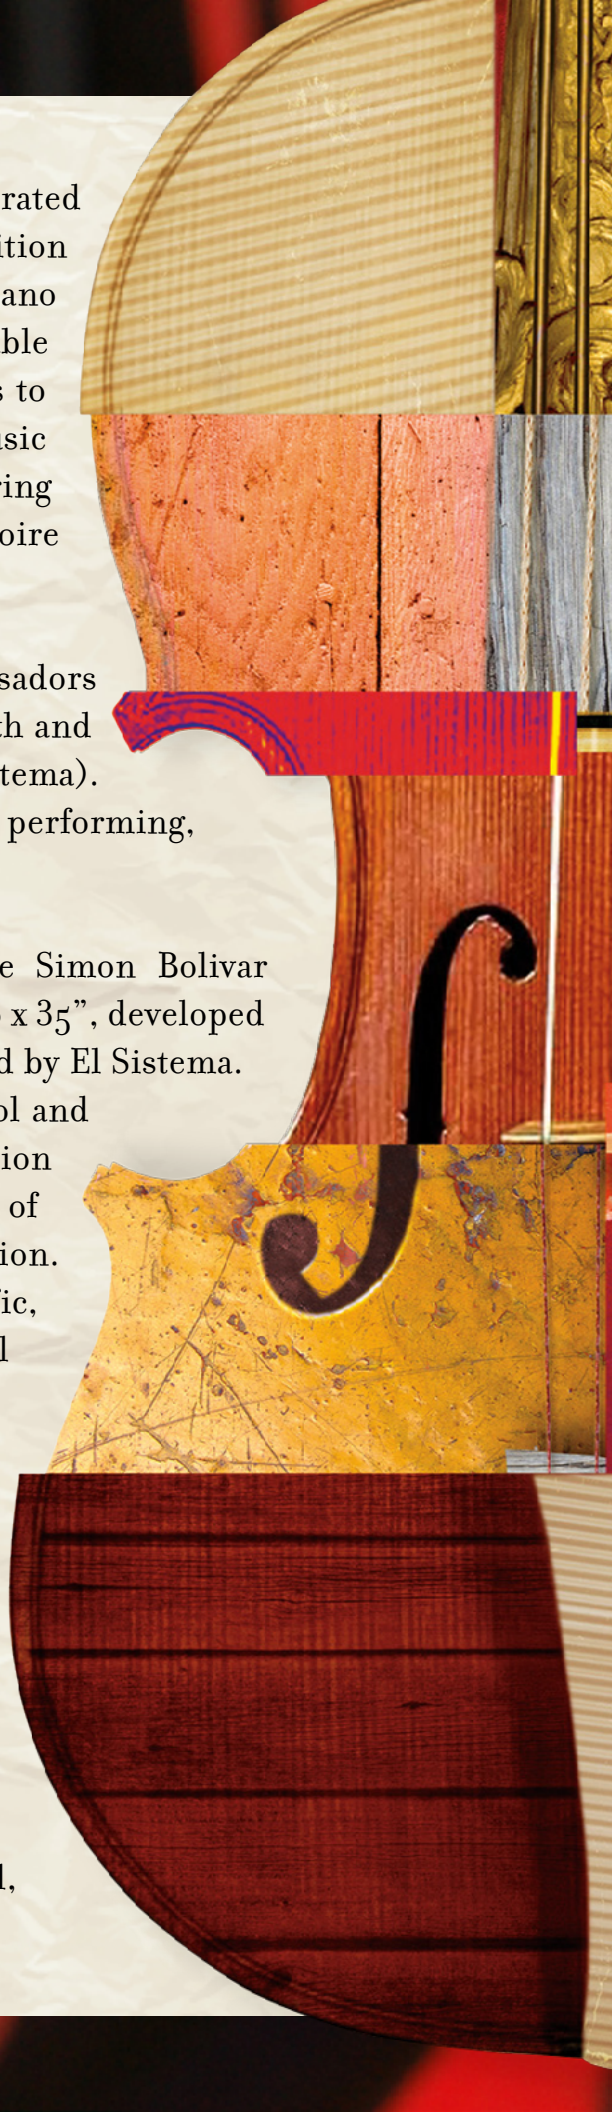

EDDY MARCANO is undoubtedly one of the most celebrated violinists in Venezuela, and is rapidly gaining recognition throughout the Americas and around the world. Marcano has been a vital source of inspiration and a commendable example for young musicians. He continually strives to unite the discipline and technicality of chamber music with Venezuelan traditional folk music. This pioneering work helps to enrich and expand the violin repertoire now, and for generations to come.

Marcano is one of the most important cultural ambassadors of the nation formed in the National System of Youth and Children's Orchestras and Choirs of Venezuela (El Sistema). Marcano's extensive career includes teaching, performing, conducting, and arts advocacy.

As a teacher, he was the Artistic Director of the Simon Bolivar Conservatory and served as a Director of "Musica 100 x 35", developed by the Conservatory of Music of Puerto Rico, inspired by El Sistema. Other instruction includes the Emil Friedman School and the Itinerant Andean Conservatory of CAF (Corporacion Andina de Fomento). He has served as President of the Nueva Esparta Symphony Orchestra Foundation. For UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization) he has acted as musical commissioner for the creation of youth and children's orchestras as well as a member of the Council of Music of Venezuela.

He has been part of ensembles such as: Solo 3, Opus 4, Arcano, and Onkora. Most recently, as a member of the sextet Venezuelan Roots, the group met in Switzerland to record their first album. Marcano has two solo albums released under the project "Venezuela en Violin", and recently released his third production "Tarde Tinta" under the EBD Records label, which received excellent reviews.

Throughout his performing career, Marcano has enjoyed extraordinary success at home and around the world. In the United States, he has had the pleasure of performing for audiences in New York City, Houston, Philadelphia, Miami, Washington D. C., and Pittsburgh, among others. The Governor of Pennsylvania presented him with the award of "Latin Artist of Hispanic Heritage Month" in 2009.

Internationally, he has brought the captivating music of Venezuela to China, Germany, Canada, Colombia, Spain, England, Panama, Puerto Rico, and Switzerland.

He currently teaches conducting and violin at the University of the Arts (UNEARTE) in Venezuela.
